

Kids learn when playing

Or in other words:

Playing means learning for a child! You can support the development of your youngest readers and offer them suitable worlds where they easily unfold their fantasy.

We toyed with a lot of ideas for that. Enchanting furniture: for pilots, captains, pirates, princesses, knights and astronauts. See what happens in our thematic worlds and find out about the reactions of tomorrow's visitors – the children.

Kids are curious and want to discover the world in their own way. Send them on a discovery trip with the reading plane. The more playful this trip in your library is the better. It is fantastic to dive into unknown worlds with a plane and to bury oneself endlessly above the clouds.

The divided fuselage allows the little pilots an easy access. The dashboard serves as comfortable book rest. The rear, flat back gives you room for the books of your youngest readers whereas the books for the older kids can be placed in the high front body.

The direct assignment of two reading tables in the shape of the wings is extremely practical. This creates exciting selection and reading options while standing or sitting, with a direct relation to the storing furniture.

For safety reasons the propeller is fixed.

The plane can be placed free-standing and be randomly combined with supplementing accessories such as seat pillars or additional picture book boxes.

Voyage of Discovery or Children's Corner?

There is not much room for your kids' library? Well, you don't need much. The airplane itself offers already 10 shelves for picture books, 2 tables, 6 seats, a pilot seat with tray and a lot of fun to go on a voyage of discovery instead of sitting in a shelving corner for children!
